THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair
And having perhaps the better claim
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that, the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I ·
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

"Good-bye" is not an ending
when you know that people care,
For miles may come between you but warm thoughts are always there . . .
"Good-bye" is not an ending
but a different start for you,
A time for making brand-new friends and seeing dreams come true . . .
"Good-bye" is not an ending,
for you'll find along life's way,
Within your heart you'll always have a part of yesterday.

Three hundred thousand marched in Washington and recalled the days when Martin Luther King Jr. hod a dream; James Watt talked himself out of a job, and physicist Sally Ride became the first American woman in space. Rita M. Lavelle swore that she didn't do anything wrong as head of EPA's non-cleanup of toxic waste. (The jury that convicted her of perjury disagreed.) Every six months there were twice as many Americans with the incurable and often fatal affliction known as AIDS. (To date, 1,225 have died.)

It was a year to let 'er rip. Torn fashions . . . featured in Flashdance . . . included oversize sweatshirts with the neckline rent and a lot of shoulder exposed.

Did Michael Jackson make MTV, or was it the other way around? It's a toss up, but they obviously were created for each other. Jackson, 25, has the voice, the looks—and all the right moves.

A few fads came—and went. Some 25 million Wacky Wallwalkers were sold, and kids jazzed up sneakers with Really Lizzies and friendship pins. A Cabbage Patch Kid was the most desirable Santa item. And having babies was the thing to do. More than 3 million women produced real, live dolls.

In the early morning darkness of September 1, a Korean Air Lines 747 was hit by a Soviet air-to-air missile, killing all 269 passengers and crew.

Can we talk? At 48, Joan Rivers is one legend who finds it most becoming to knock other legends. Right, Liz?

Mum doesn't mind the makeup. After all, her Boy George, 22, has also made his physiognomy his fortune.

Quick as a wink there she was: Vanessa Williams, 20, the 56th Miss America and the pageant's first black titleholder.

Nature misbehaved spectacularly in 1983 . . floods, droughts, earthquakers, volcanoes. Part of the problem was El Nino, a climate-altering quirk of abnormally warm water off South America. In New York City enough rain fell (more than 70 inches) to break all records . . and cut short a July concert by Diana Ross in Central Park.

On October 5, 1983, Lech Walesa is named Nobel Peace Prize Winner.

U.S. warships cruised in the waters off Lebanon and Central America . . . silver-gray images of World War II. On Nov. 4, 1983, troopers from the Army's 82nd Airborne Division returned to Fort Bragg, N.C., fatigued from their assault on Grenada and the 10-day securing of the island. Nineteen Americans had been killed and 144 wounded, but the controversial war was won.

Once again, a year was stained by assassination. Philippines opposition leader, Benigno S. Aquino was shot in the head at Manila International Airport on August 21, 1983.

In October a 65-mile human chain, composed of more than 200,000 West German anti-nuke protestors, stretched from Stuttgart to Neu-Ulm, where nine Pershing II missiles were scheduled to be installed by the end of the year.

In September Australia II became the first America's Cup challenger in 132 years to beat a U.S. 12-meter sailboat.

VALEDICTORY

We, the class of 1984 stand ready today to make our entrance into the "real world". What we face may well be a world deficient in something only we, as youth, can provide. Only we, with our comparatively new outlook, can give the world the hope, the faith it needs to grow, to change, and to flourish.

Too often people do not realize their full potential. They have no faith in themselves: and they do not trust their capabilities. Because they do not have confidence in themselves, they cannot find it in others. How many times have you heard the cliche "if you want something done, do it yourself"? We are instantly suspicious of the motives of others, skeptical and wary would serve them, we could replace our apathy with action, our despair with hope, and our doubts with faith. However, we do not need a blind faith, for believing without understanding leads only to more doubt and more uncertainty. As the Spanish philosopher Miguel de Unamuno once said "Faith which does not doubt is dead enthusiasm, a faith which offers possibility. This is a faith which only the optimism of youth can offer, a renewal of hope for those who have lost the newness and excitement we bring. If we can keep this faith, we can improve, rather than destroy, our world. For as J. G. Whittier said in his poem, "Ichabod"- When faith is lost, faith is lost, when lest they let us down. This distrust is especially ture about those who lead us. The institutions of society- government and education-are viewed as corrupt and irretrievable from their state or near collapse. Without even attempting to understand the rpocedures and systems created by those before us, they criticize those who lead us, and pessimism easily become the prevailing attitude of our society.

But-what if we were to believe? What if we were to allow ourselves to trust our feelings and utilize our own resources? What if we were to believe in others and allow our faith to become their strength? If people could trust that the institutions they have created honor dies/the man is dead.

ESSAY

Effort. The exertion of one's energies to attain a preset, clearly defined goal. Every person who succeeds knows the word effort. It is the manifestation of dedication and perserverance and those with character exhibit this trait.

We live in a world where success and failure coincide. Failure often comes from a lack of effort; but, unfortunately, many times it will come from uncontrollable circumstances in our lives. Success, however, will almost always come from hard work. Very few people will achieve their goals on "luck." We all must take control of those unpredictable variables in our lives and manipulate them for our own needs.

Think; move; strive; and ultimately succeed. Think of the future, erase the fear, explore new possibilities, and extend your limitations. With perserverance one can dare to climb every mountain; dream the impossible dream; and most importantly, boldly go where no man has gone before.

HISTORY

The following document was recently discovered amidst the remains of an Ancient educational center which is believed to have been condemned around 1984 A.D., some 2,000 years ago The document reads as follows:

It is difficult to know quite where to begin listing the chain of events which, combined, constitute the history of the prestigious Class of 1984, however, I have chosen a certain Tuesday in early September of 1980. The setting: The Wilmington High School auditorium; the atmosphere: anticipation; the goal orientation, the result boredom! . . .

The following day, two hundred and seventyseven ruddy cheeked aspiring young freshman crossed the broad lawns of the High School Uncommon and Off Limits!

Thus, the class of '84 officially entered the halls of Wilmington High School. As days passed, the class officers were soon to be elected under the advisory of Mr Keenan President Lois Fitzpatrick Vice-president Laurie Janes, Treasurer Sharon Boudeau and Secretary Susan Lapper.

The following year, Stephen Raso bought a new shirt. The class officers were the same, however, Mr. Keenan became a victim of Proposition 2 ½ and Mr. Dicey assumed the position of class advisor Fund raising continued with the sale of magazines, and preparations for the Junior prom began.

To the dismay of the entire school, Dr. George Eisenburgh was fired-uh, resigned and Harold Garrett became God for the following year Mr. Redmond, the acting vice-principal completely disgusted us in the hallways with his ties. The common was closed. Upperclassmen responsibilities and freedoms were abolished along with the morning breakfast program All in all a very good year . .

As Juniors, new class officers were elected President Frank Carta, Vice-president Lois Fitzpatrick, Treasurer Bonnie MacEachern and Secretary Chris McMenimen

The Homecoming marked the third consecutive year that the class of '84 was selected as the loudest class at the Pep Rally-thanks to Jay Barrett Friday, May 13, marked the Junior Prom "We've Got Tonight" which was held at the Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover and which was highlighted by the selectin of Lois Fitzpatrick as Prom Queen-enough said

The next day, the weather was warm but the water at Good Harbor was very cold .

The final year-1984 was productive for both sports and activities. Many things happened Dean Athanasia defeated Tweksbury in the Thanksgiving Day game The hockey team made it to the Eastern State finals. It was a tight game, they were barely defeated in the final minutes of the last two periods by Columbus The final score 8-3

The Senior class play "The Man WHO Came to Dinner" directed by Lynn Schiener had two very successful performances

Mr. Richard DeRosa was selected as Acting Principal with the unfortunate retirement of Harold Garrett

Mr. Woods got a "real" job . .

Senior class dues were paid

1984 marks the proposal for the Renovation of the High School which passed after its second deliberation.

The Senior Prom "Wishing On a Star" was a great success at the Sheraton Tara in Nashua, New Hampshire, featuring Prom Queen Ruth Durkee

All in all, there were many events and incidents to look back upon over the past four years Especially an event which occured on a mid-Friday afternoon in May of this very same year-when most of those who were attributed membership to the class of '84 departed the hallways and classrooms of Wilmington High School— never to return

With thanks and appreciation to the dedicated members of the faculty and school administration, I bring the class history to a close

Looking forward to graduation June 3, 1984 I wish you all the best

PROPHECY

Last week I had a dream. I dreamt that I was accompanying Peter McLellan on a break-dacing tour of New England when our plane stopped in Boston for the night. I went to the newsstand to buy the paper. As I bought the paper, I noticed April Smallidge's picture on the cover of Playboy magazine. She was, of course, Miss April. I also saw Ed Kaiser's picture on the cover of Computer Weekly magazine, and Bonnie MacEachern on the cover of Glamour magazine offering facial cosmetic tips. I was surpised to read that the date on the news paper was 1994. That explains it, I thought, while reading how Darin Colarusso had debated his latest military strategy before the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Supporting Darin from the Air Force was the dare-devil pilot, Lucien Grise.

In the Entertainment section of the paper, there was news of Carl Beatrice's famous rock'n'roll band appearing in concert at the garden with special guests Judee Landrigan and Jerry Lawrenson on trumpet. Jay Barrett was performing his comedy act for the benefit of the born-again Christians, headed by Bill Fontaine and Mark Valente. John Hulbert had finally taken over Byron Allen's role in Real People. There was a new sequel to Bruce Lee's movie, "The Return of The Dragon" starring Greg Frazier.

In the Sports section, Dean Athanasia, Dennis Moran, and Brian Tully were again making history together on the Boston Bruins. In local football, Keith Dunnett was the proud captain of the Wilmington Wildcats on his ninth waiver, with Gerry Sullivan as head coach. Sean Obeirne was tearing up the courts at Wimbledon while Brian Robbins and Jim Wallace competed in the U.S. Open. Golf Tournament.

The Gossip page was written by two of my acquaintances, Cheryl Olson and Karen Coville. Their latest work showed an exclusive photo of Beth Taylor dating basketball star Danny Ainge. Rumours were that Steve Bonaccorsi and Larraine Flaherty were still seeing each other. The latest news about Diane Tobey was that her multi-million dollar engineering firm had some new employees: Paul Caizzi, Scott Anderson, and Rob Sullivan as engineers and cousin Steve Tobey in the cafeteria making ice cream cones for the employees. . Dennis Riley, Scott Bishop and Larry Grant were seen in body-building class with instructors Garth Halliday and Paul Bossi. Russel Trow had increased his antique car collection and Ruth Durkee was being urged by admirers to run for Miss America. Lastly, rumours of olympic skier Patty Conant returning from her world tour had made the paper.

There were many interesting advertisements throughout the paper. One was for Joe MacEachern's Hardware store, next to Chris Rossetti's Pharmacy. Steve Stokes advertised his roast beef restaurant chain on the same page as Frank Carta's weight loss clinic. I saw that Judy Seville was a fashion model as she modeled for Stacy Sargeant's newest line of fashion apparel. Kristin Hayward advertised her mental health practice as she used Jim Burns and Dave Dipersio for references.

Of course, my dream was brief and I did not have the time to read about everyone from my graduating class, but I'm sure that if any group has the potential to make news in 1994 it is my class of 1984 and I wish you all the best.
